Year Completed: 1980

Al-Farooq Masjid was established in 1980. It was one among a few mosques in the southeastern United States. Today, it is one of nearly 35 in the metro-Atlanta area serving about 75,000 Muslims that came from over 50 countries. In 1990 the Masjid started Dar-un-Noor full time School, currently having 200 students in grades pre-K through 8th. In the mid nineties, the Muslims not only increased to an unprecedented level but also spread extensively to the suburbs of Atlanta. Al-Farooq Masjid was prompted to establish Masjid Omar Bin Abdul-Aziz in the Norcross area of Atlanta. This neighborhood community mosque not only attracts a large number of Muslims for daily five-time Salaahs but also over 400 Muslims for Friday Salaah, and over 100 Muslim children attend daily afternoon Quranic and Islamic classes.
